The rapid expansion of the world's population has created unprecedented opportunities. While people desperately seek answers to earth's ecological problems, the evangelical community seeks personnel to carry the ever-relevant message of the Gospel to a needy world. The Biblical mandate of service propels the Christian servant into a world of great need, with a greater means of communication, but with no greater message than the love of God manifested in His Son.

The Capital Bible Seminary is interested in people. To this end its doors are open to minister intellectual and spiritual truths to men of like precious faith, that they in turn might respond to the needs of people.

To achieve this goal the Seminary endeavors to offer a well-balanced program of Biblical education supplemented by the tools of Biblical languages. The curriculum expands to expose the men to the areas of Church History, Missions, Pastoral Theology, and Christian Ethics in order to enhance their outlook on present needs from the perspective of the past. The postgraduate level of study presupposes a seriousness and dedication of purpose resulting in an analytical and detailed course of study.

The training of the mind is not encouraged at the expense of fatness of soul. The constant example and exhortation of the faculty to a dimension of spiritual holiness demonstrated in practical service prevails. The strategic location of the Seminary has afforded excellent opportunities to implement and complement the classroom situation.

The purpose of the yearbook, The Semianarian, is to capture this spirit of human interest through its photographs, specific Scripture passages and candid stills. The presentation of trained men with hearts burdened by the needs of the masses produces a picture painted by the Lord himself when He said, "For the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

I came not to judge, but to save.

George A. Miles, B.A., B.S.C.E.

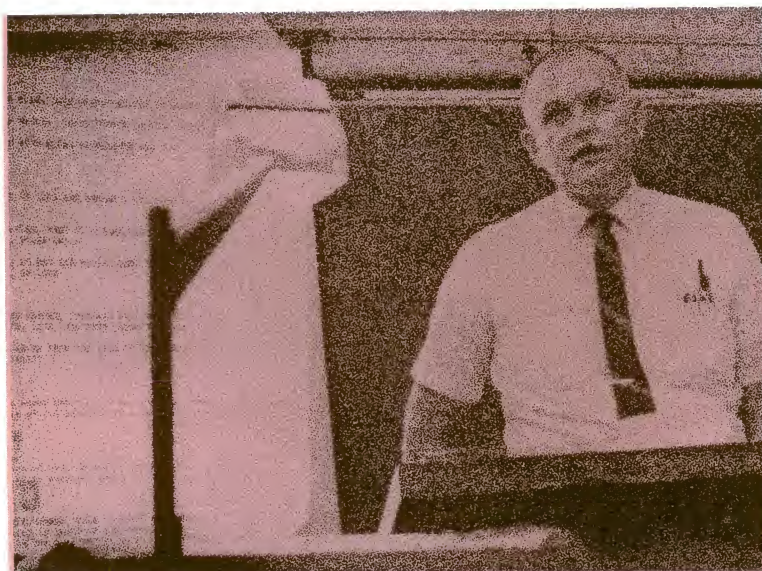

A well-known, sought after speaker, Mr. Miles keeps busy by serving as President of the Washington Bible College and its graduate school, the Capital Bible Seminary.

John H. Mulholland, B.A., Th.M., Th.D.

Dr. Mulholland has served as Dean of the Seminary for the past 5 years. His doctoral dissertation on the book of Revelation has served him well as he is also an active prophetic conference speaker.

Man and machine in action.

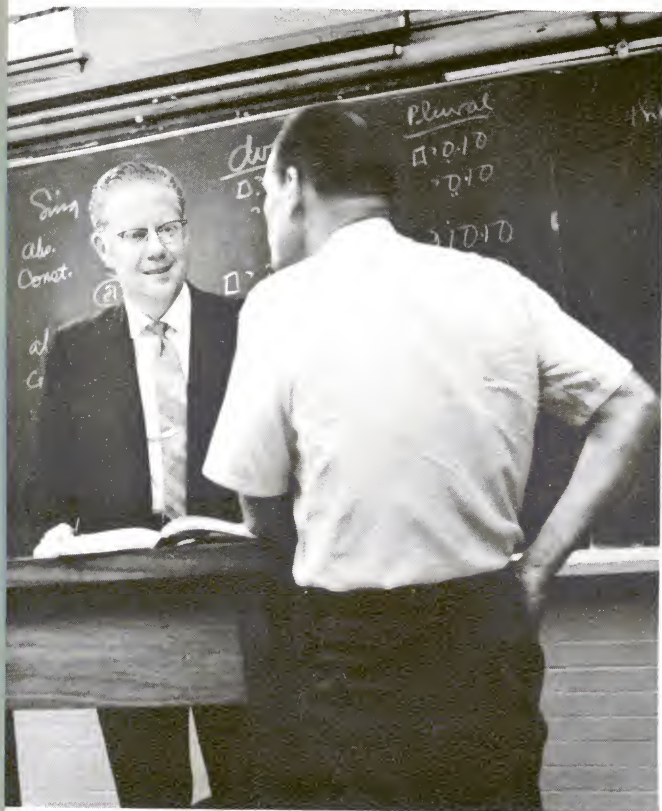

Homer Heater, B.D., M.A.

The father of four sons, Professor Heater is also engaged in the pursuit of his doctorate. His Seminary responsibilities, apart from being the Registrar, include teaching Semitic Languages and Old Testament Literature.

Herbert D. Arnold, B.A., B.D.

A former high school track star, Rev. Arnold is still fast afoot. The Pastor of Temple Baptist Church, Fredericksburg, Virginia, he is also involved as an instructor with the Washington Bible College extension school and now our Homiletics professor.

A man of much experience in Christian Education circles, Rev. Dixon pastors a church in the area while teaching Christian Education at the Seminary.

Thomas R. Edgar, B.S., Th.M., Th.D.

Dr. Edgar, our latest addition to the full-time faculty, is serving as the Professor of New Testament and Greek.

Mrs. Thomas Edgar
Interim secretary to the Dean and Registrar

Gerald B. Hall, B.D., Th.M.

The Seminary has again enlisted the efforts of Rev. Hall to lecture in the area of Pastoral Counselling. He is presently Pastor of the Annandale Evangelical Free Church.

A. W. Jackson, B.A., B.S.T.

An instructor for years at the Washington Bible College, Rev. Jackson still finds time along with his busy pastoral duties to teach Christian Life and Pastoral Studies.

Lindley G. Royston, B.A., Th.M.

Rev. Royston majored in Old Testament and Hebrew at Dallas Seminary making him a logical choice as the instructor of Old Testament book studies. A part-time instructor at C.B.S., Rev. Royston has served as the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Edgewater, Md., for the past eight years.

Miss Ruth Snider

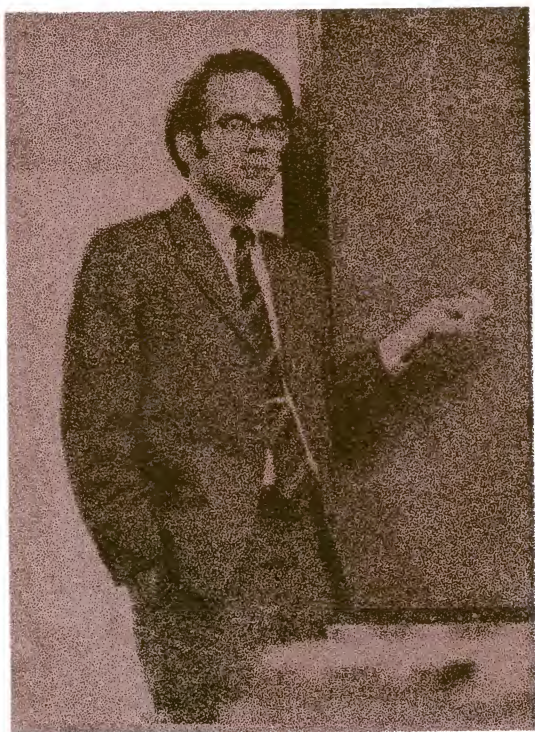

Secretary to the Dean and Registrar

Donald Tinder, B.D., Ph.D.

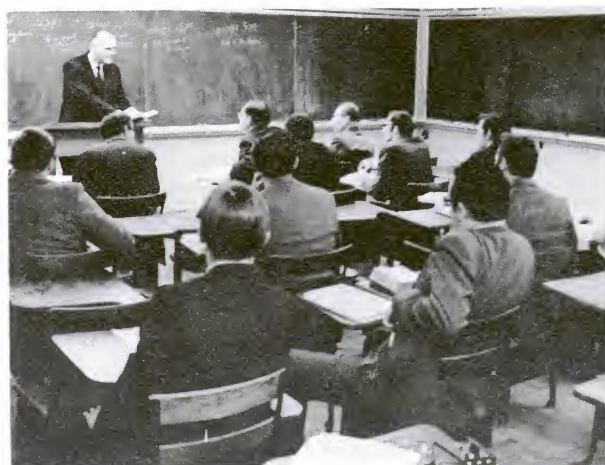

As a recent recipient of a doctoral degree in Church History, and as assistant editor of Christianity Today, Dr. Tinder comes to us well qualified as the Professor of Church History.

A black and white photograph of a young woman sitting on the ground, leaning against a large tree trunk. She is wearing a light-colored sweater over a dark dress and dark boots. She is holding an open book and looking down at it. In the background, there is a large building, possibly a school, and a group of people standing in a line. The scene is outdoors, likely on a campus.

If any man lack wisdom,
let him ask of God...

Robert Byers, Vice-President; Larry Sowers, Missions Director; William Lesko, Chaplain; Paul Pease, President; Dr. Mulholland, Advisor; Phillip Kneier, Secretary; James Bennett, Treasurer.

The student body president discusses administrative details with the student advisor.

Keeping up the missions bulletin board is only one part of Student Missions.

The chaplain opens the daily chapel service with a hymn.

An honest smile from the treasurer who keeps track of student funds.

Go ye...

For this year's student missions project, the Lord has laid upon the hearts of the men to donate the entire gift to Mr. Marion Rodgers. Marion is a graduate of the class of 1969 and is presently teaching New Testament Greek at the Carver Bible Institute in Atlanta, Georgia.

This year's greatest innovation was the Seminary's Missions Intercession. The five day, concentrated effort on a Seminary level was conducted by the Unevangelized Fields Mission and produced great insight into missions philosophy, organization and polity. The U.F.M. effort was coordinated by Dr. Charles Piegrass and Rev. Al Larson with Miss Fran Tracey, Donald Muchmore and John Schmidt as Lecturers.
